March 1998

On March 20, 1996 the Bureau of Land Management and the Forest Service formally announced the two agencies would work aggressively to refine and implement a cooperative management strategy for managing their riparian-wetland areas. It was also agreed that the Natural Resources Conservation Service would be a principal partner to implement riparian-wetland restoration on a watershed scale in cooperation with all landowners. The documents listed below have been developed by one or more of the agencies listed above or jointly with other agencies and are available to the public.
